

Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 08 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny spells for some with showers possible.

Today:
A dry start with spells of sunshine throughout the day. Showers developing during the late morning and into the afternoon, but some areas likely staying dry, particularly the far west. Feeling warm in any sunshine. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
Turning dry at first with clear skies for some as any remaining showers soon fade away. Cloud thickening in the west overnight, giving some outbreaks of light rain and drizzle. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Friday:
Mostly cloudy on Friday with some spells of light rain and drizzle in the west at first. A few showers are possible throughout the day. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Scattered showers throughout the outlook, with a risk of thunder and hail. These showers turning more frequent and heavier on Saturday and Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.